ALMA MATER AND FACULTY

"Love"

Immortal, omnipotent Love, by thy silver chords of power thou shalt harmonize our hearts.

Alma Mater

ALMA MATER, thou art not what we would have thee be. Wilt thou, as a seed, spring forth with new life to regain and surpass thy former beauty and stength, fill a vast sphere with the honey-scented influence of learning and love, an irresistible combination? Guard closely the policies of thy endeavors; recognize things common to every human heart; and a New Era dawns for thee.

—C. R. C.

TO

PROFESSOR THOMAS O. DEADERICK

We esteem, honor, and love this stalwart character who has spent his life unselfishly for his fellow men in the cause of higher learning and Christian brotherhood. The world is debtor to him, humanity's friend.

C. H. TROWBRIDGE, President

Mr. Trowbridge's past and present achievements indicate that he is the power behind the New Era at Weaver. The Senior Class of '26 is with you, President Trowbridge, with all that we have and are.

In a velvety blanket of white.

The hand of Fate decrees that thou must give place to something better and new.

BOOK TWO ..... Work

Toil on! toil on! ye sons of Adam; By work your good is attained.

Work

BY work we live, are polished and improved. By work pleasures are made more sweet, rest more soothing, and sleep profound and peaceful. By work dreams come true, gigantic industries are built from crude ore, heroic men are made of weaklings. By work energies are expended either rightly or wrongly; the dripping water that leaves its useless impression in the stubborn stone might have turned the spindles that weave the silken thread.

Law and Order at Weaver College

KNOWING that Order is the oil which lubricates human association, thus preventing the loss of energies by friction; knowing that where people are to abide successfully together definite requirements must be asserted; knowing that the principles of democracy are practical and sound—Weaver is developing a system of student government with the object of building stalwart American citizens, dominant personalities, and noble characters.

FUSCHIA BARNARD
BEECH, N. C.

"Wisdom and goodness are twin-born—one heart

Must hold both sisters, never seen apart."

Weaver College High School; Mnemosynean Literary Society; Buncombe County Club; Rapunzel Club (5-6); "Pep" Reporter; Life Service Band; Business Club; Graduate in Stenographic Work.

Here is a girl who has won the admiration and respect of us all. With her steadfastness of purpose and gift of application, the harbor of success will surely be her haven.

Appearance: Full grown.

Greatest Aversion: Studying chemistry.

Favorite Expression: "You don't say so!"

LEE BARNETT
WEAVERVILLE, N. C.

"When love and skill work together—

Expect a masterpiece."

Jefferson High School; Cliosophic Literary Society; Chaplain College Council; Ministerial Band; Buncombe County Club; Debate Council; Mountaineer Staff; Chief Usher 1925; Married April 26, 1924.

Everybody likes Barnett. Perhaps this is the reason he was able to secure one of the fair sex before coming to us. When he came into our midst, he joined the Ministerial Band, and his hard work and noble life have kept him true to his obligation. In the next ten years we anticipate seeing him one of the greatest men in our Church.

Appearance: Happy.

Greatest Aversion: Collecting jokes.

Favorite Expression: "Where is Woodall?"

VERNIE BARTLETT
WEAVERVILLE, N. C.

"Not too serious, not too gay,
But a rare good fellow
When it comes to play."

Rowan County Farm Life School; Chosophic Literary Society, Censor; Treasurer, Buncombe County Club (5-6); Glee Club (5-6); Tennis Club; Varsity Football Team; Varsity Basketball Team.

Whether it be in work or in play, he is there whole-heartedly; and therefore we expect to hear great things of him. We sincerely extend to him every good wish for success and happiness, and feel sure Weaverville will have a citizen of whom she may be justly proud.

Appearance: Mostly a smile.

Greatest Aversion: Memorizing poetry.

Favorite Expression: "Shucks!"

ROY BLACKWELDER
CONCORD, N. C.

"A rare combination of quality, noble and true,
A plenty of wit and good sense, too."

Brevard Institute; Delphian Literary Society, Critic; College Council; Rat Court; Maintenance of Order Committee; B. I. Club; Dramatic Club; Society Play; Stanley-Rowan Club; Student Manager of Football; Inter-Collegiate Debate; President Y. M. C. A.; President of Debate Council; "The Mountaineer" Staff; Best Speaker.

"Blackie" is one of those fellows who present the ideal of the typical Southern gentleman. Debating is his special delight; and he is an orator of no mean ability, for his thoughts are always clear-cut and right to the point. Wherever he goes, the name of Weaver will be honored.

Appearance: Debating.

Greatest Aversion: Spanish.

Favorite Expression: "You're a doll baby!"

RAY CARPENTER
CHERRYVILLE, N. C.

"He was a man, take him for all in all,
I shall not look upon his like again."

Weaver College High School; Delphian Literary Society, President (3-4-5), Secretary; Chief Usher, '25; Junior Debate; Inter-Collegiate Debate; "Mountaineer" Staff, Associate Editor (4-5), Editor-in-Chief (6); Business Manager of "Pep"; President of Sophomore and Junior Class; College Council; Debate Council (4-6); Varsity Football (5-6); Superintendent of Sunday School; Life Service Band; Maintenance of Order Committee; Librarian; Weaver College Play Makers; Handsomest Boy; Best all around student.

Some know him as "C. R.," others as Ray; but we of the Annual Staff know him as our faithful Editor-in-Chief. By his original ideas, thrift in letting contracts and skillful management, he has caused the Annual to be a success. He is a gentleman, a brilliant student, and a good sport; with these combined qualities, he is sure to make a record wherever he goes.

Appearance: Dignified.
Greatest Aversion: Which, Spanish or French?
Favorite Expression: "Boost the Annual."

ELIZABETH CARTER
ASHEVILLE, N. C.

Have an ideal; direct your whole being along a straight line toward attaining it, and success is yours.

Grace High School; Mnemosynean Literary Society; Junior Debate; Varsity Basketball, Captain (5-6); Reporter to the "Pep"; Sponsor to the Delphian Literay Society (5); President of the Senior Class; Tennis Club; Chief Marshal to Senior Class, 1925; Athletic Council; Secretary Dramatic Club; Life Service Band; "Mountaineer" Staff; Best Speaker.

Ever busy, ever cheerful, ever striving onward and upward—these qualities characterize Elizabeth. Girls of her personality are hard to find in this age of vanity. An understanding of her gives one an inspiration for better things. She is attractive, has ability and a will to work. A happy life lies before you, Elizabeth, unless some little trick of Fate throws you off the main line. May your cleverness, cheerfulness, and alertness win for you your ideals in everything. This is our wish.

Appearance: Thoughtful.
Greatest Aversion: Low grades.
Favorite Expression: "Ha! Ha! Ha!"

EMMA CRAYTON
STANFIELD, N. C.

"Long may we search before we find
A heart so gentle and so kind."

Oakboro High School; The Sponsor of our Class; Dramatic Club; Tennis Club; Stanley-Rowan Club; Old Maids' Club, Secretary and Treasurer; Mnemosynean Literary Society, President.

She is one of those unassuming maidens who would rather show you her virtues than tell you of them. Quiet, sincere, and gentle, she has won for herself the high regard of the faculty and student body. Fate is fickle, yet we dare to predict for her a brilliant future.

Appearance: Never worried.

Greatest Aversion: Keeping quiet.

Favorite Exprersion: "Jimmy! Lolly pop!"

ANNIE EDWARDS
TRYON, N. C.

"Firm of mind, massive of heart,
She has always acted well her part."

Stearns High School; Mnemosynean Literary Society, President; Basketball; Rutherford-Henderson-Polk Club; Life Service Band; College Council; Athletic Council; Senior Sunday School Class, Vice-President; Assistant to Dean of Women; "Mountaineer" Staff; Best all around Girl.

Seldom do we meet a person of Annie's type. She has humor, ability, and a sound straightforwardness in everything. You can count on this cornerstone of the Senior Class. She is leaving us with the secret of success. She always does her best, and her best will carry her through.

Appearance: Always the same.

Greatest Aversion: History.

Favorite Expression: "Rachel! be quiet."

EULA Z. ENGLISH
WEAVERVILLE, N. C.

In the high calling of Christ Jesus she has her purpose.

Bald Creek High School; Mars Hill College; Mnemosynean Literary Society; Tennis Club; Life Service Band (5-6); Glee Club (5-6); Rapunzel Club (5-6); Dramatic Club; Basketball; President Ladies' Missionary Society; Fourth Dept. Supt. of League; Member of Choir; Assistant Junior S. S. Teacher.

At the end of the rainbow there sits Eula and "Hambone," with Cupid's arrow pierced through their hearts. She is a good mixer, and has a perseverance that will carry her through the windings of this complex world. We are for you, Eula! We wish you much success in your work as a missionary.

Appearance: Affectionate.

Greatest Aversion: Early classes.

Favorite Expression: "Pshaw!"

LILLIAN GIBBS
BALD CREEK, N. C.

"Of all the arts, Great Music is the art to raise the heart above early storms."

Bald Creek High School; Mnemosynean Literary Society, Chaplain, Chairman of Ways and Means Committee; Sunday School Chorister; Dramatic Club, Secretary and Treasurer; Glee Club; Rutherford-Polk-Henderson Club; Life Service Band; Sunday School Superintendent.

This maiden will leave a place that will be hard to fill when she departs from Weaver. Whenever we wanted a musical treat, Lillian was always called on and always responded; we were satisfied. We are sure that she will cheer many with her song in the future, as she has cheered us during our days with her on the campus. We are sure that great success will crown her efforts. Music calms the roaring lion, subjecting his will to the musician.

Appearance: Stately.

Greatest Aversion: Straight hair.

Favorite Expression: "Ole dear."

WILLIAM HART
EASLEY, S. C.

"What shall a man do to be forever known,
And make the ages come to be my own?"

Brevard Institute; Cliosophic Literary Society, President; Committee for Maintenance of Order; Dramatic Club (5-6); B. I. Club (5-6); Epworth League Cabinet, President; "Mountaineer" Staff, Business Manager; Christian Workers Band, Secretary; Debate Council; Y. M. C. A.; College Council; Inter-Collegiate Debate (5-6); Football Squad; Greatest Asset to the School.

With a year's experience as a school "Prof.," Bill comes to us from the wilds of South Carolina. This sturdy character is noted for his original thinking, keen perception, and exact judgment. His "Affaires de Coeur" might be told in a book fittingly entitled "A Thousand and One Nights—Each with a Different Girl." Although he has an adventurous spirit along this line, we feel sure that this gentleman will some day occupy a high place in his chosen work. He is very original in thought and action.

Appearance: Original.
Greatest Aversion: Getting to English on time.
Favorite Expression: "Confound it!"

TALFOURD HUNEYCUTT
NORWOOD, N. C.

"They are never alone that are accompanied by noble thoughts."

Norwood High School; Delphian Literary Society; College Council; Ministerial Band; Dramatic Club; Stanley-Rowan Club.

Tall, good-natured, cheerful "Hunney." You can depend on him to enjoy the joke. A frown never clouds his days. He has many friends, no enemies. He has a great liking for the "women," but he manages to suppress it well. To the fortunate young lady the Class of '26 surrenders this good fellow.

Appearance: Quiet.

Greatest Aversion: Talking.

Favorite Expression: "Helen."

MARY HELEN HOWARD
MORGANTON, N. C.

"Happiness is cheaper than worry;
So why pay the higher price?"

Morganton High School; Mnemosynean Literary Society, Marshal, Chairman of Ways and Means Committee; Tennis Club (5-6), Champion (5); Stanley-Rowan Club; Piedmont-Eastern Carolina Club; College Council; "Mountaineer" Staff.

Ha! ha! here comes "Ginger," our perfect blonde, with an easy, carefree disposition. Mary Helen has not let studying seriously interfere with her education, but we admire her activeness; she does things. Her good humor and cheerful disposition assure her of a happy life.

Appearance: Carefree.

Greatest Aversion: Is it breakfast?

Favorite Expression: "Shoot, Ma!"

EURA JONES
WEAVERVILLE, N. C.

"The song and its mighty powers
Took every soul and lifted it to Heaven."

Rowan County Farm Life School; Cliosophic Literary Society; Debators' Improvement Medal; Junior Debate; Ministerial Band; Glee Club.

Hail! our Caruso! Yes, Eura is a born singer, the kind of a man who puts his trouble in the bottom of his heart and sings. We admire him because his heart is in harmony with his melodies. His future plans are to go to Harvard. We will call you ours when the Grand Opera of 19— claims you.

Appearance: Nervous.

Greatest Aversion: Grits and gravy.

Favorite Expression: "I'll be hornswiggled!"

GLENN KENNERLY
LEXINGTON, N. C.

A good family man, to say the least; devoted and dependable.

Rutherford College High School; Cliosophic Literary Society; Varsity Football (6); Varsity Basketball (5-6); Piedmont-Eastern Carolina Club; Maintenance of Order Committee; "Rat Court"; Tennis Club.

"The mail has come!"

It's Glenn, the person every girl looks for each morning. "Kin's" greatest weakness is woman, but he just can't help it. His greatest assest is making feminine hearts flutter. Yet he is an energetic and gentlemanly son of Weaver.

Appearance: Pretty.

Greatest Aversion: Who knows!

Favorite Expression: "I'll think about it."

VIOLA LYDA
ARDEN, N. C.

Beauty smoothes the rough journey of life,
Loveliness wins the heart of the world.

Weaver College High School; Mnemosynean Literary Society; Reporter to "Pep"; Vice-President of Junior Sunday School Class; Life Service Band, Vice-President; Buncombe County Club (5-6); Dramatic Club; Business Class; Epworth League Council; "Mountaineer" Staff. Senior Editor; Assistant to Dean (5-6).

A first class Senior, a first class student, and a girl of the highest type. A bright star than can be seen bright among many. "V" is loyal to her school, her class, and herself. She has taken a great interest in "The Mountaineer," for which we give her high credit. "V," be careful how you handle human hearts; they are tender.

Appearance: Pretty.

Greatest Aversion: Exercise.

Favorite Expression: "Come on, Lib."

EMORY LYDA
WEAVERVILLE, N. C.

"Pleasure and action make his hours seem short."

Weaver College High School; Cliosophic Literary Society; Tennis Club (5-6); Varsity Football (3-4-5-6); Most Athletic Boy.

We all know "Lyda" as an athlete. He is a brilliant football player and an excellent Captain. He has a student's ability and influence among his fellows.

Here is a sport, athlete, and friend; may he find in life the same good will that he has shown at all times.

Appearance: Never married.

Greatest Aversion: Knocked out of football.

Favorite Expression: "Fannie! Fannie!"

GRACE MOORE
PRENTISS, N. C.

"Determination is the master key to success."

Franklin High School; Euterpean Literary Society; College Council; Debate Council; Junior Debate (5); Varsity Basketball (5-6); Norton Club; Life Service Band; Rutherford-Henderson-Polk Club.

The curtain goes up and we see Grace in The Rivals; at basketball practice she is there on time; in Spanish, she leads the class. She has an unconquerable spirit of determination which never allows her to leave a task before it is finished. Here is to your happiness, Grace, from the Class of '26.

Appearance: Studious.

Greatest Aversion: Doing nothing.

Favorite Expression: "Yes, ——"

EDGAR MORRIS
WEAVERVILLE, N. C.

"Attempt the end and never stand and doubt.

Nothing so hard but a Chemist's search will find it out."

Aquadale High School; Delphian Literary Society; Stanley-Rowan Club, Vice-President (5-6); Reavis Club (5-6); Dramatic Club; Assistant Librarian.

Chemist—yes, he is a real one; that is, if steadiness and promptness mean anything. He has that massive, sturdy, plodding character which reminds us so much of our Anglo-Saxon forefathers. He has his goal, and he is going there.

Appearance: Powerful.

Greatest Aversion: Hurrying.

Favorite Expression: "Lemme sleep."

MARY ELLEN POWELL
GREENSBORO, N. C.

"In her experience all her friends relied; Heaven was her help and Nature was her guide."

Weaver College High School; Mnemosynean Literary Society, President, Chaplain, Secretary, Reader's Medal; Stanley-Rowan Club; Reporter to "Pep"; Dramatic Club; Life Service Band; Epworth League Council; Representative to League Conference; Glee Club; Senior Sunday School Class, President; "Mountaineer" Staff; Greatest asset to school.

Mary Ellen is an ideal student, good at anything. She has always made good grades, in spite of the many committee meetings which she was supposed to attend.

Her present hope is to be a medical missionary. We wish her much happiness in this glorious work for humanity.

Appearance: Not as thin as she wishes.

Greatest Aversion: History lectures.

Favorite Expression: "That is wonderful."

SARAH ROSS
MORGANTON, N. C.

"The great end of life is not knowledge, but action."

Morganton High School, Mnemosynean Literary Society, President, Sponsor; Tennis Club, Champion Girls' Doubles; Stanley-Rowan Club; Piedmont-Eastern Carolina Club; Varsity Basketball; Most Athletic Girl.

Sarah, you have been very popular with us, always pleasing and affectionate. You have a kindly interest in human nature. May you ever find ways cleared for your happiness. Strive hard and never regret the moments passed.

Appearance: Athletic.

Greatest Aversion: Cold treatment.

Favorite Expression: "Oh!"

RACHEL STAPLES
ROOPVILLE, GA.

"The joys of youth and health her eyes displayed,
And ease of heart her very looks conveyed."

Roopville Junior High School; Weaver College High School, Sponsor; Mnemosynean Literary Society; Tennis Club; Georgia-Tennessee Club, President; Epworth League Council; Delphian Sponsor; Dramatic Club; Cheer Leader (5); Sponsor of "The Mountaineer"; "Mountaineer" Staff; Most Interesting Girl.

Rachel, the class hails you, "The Peach of Georgia." Rachel has a most interesting personality. Besides sharing in college activities and social hours, she has completed one high school course and her junior college work in two years. We congratulate you. You have pluck and determination as well as a quick mind. We know you will use them rightly. She possesses the ability of being at all times master of existing conditions.

Appearance: Active.

Greatest Aversion: Having social privileges taken.

Favorite Expression: "My Goat."

WILLIAM WEAVER
ASHEVILLE, N. C.

"Whatever he did was done with so much ease."

Weaver High School; Cliosophic Literary Society; Football Squad; Buncombe County Club; Dramatic Club.

Bill is one of those fellows everyone likes. Thanks for helping us in the Mars Hill game, Bill. Stick out everything, old boy, as you did with us that day, and the world will admire you.

Appearance: Unconcerned.

Greatest Aversion: Digging stumps.

Favorite Expression: "If they could only be changed."

EVAN WILSON
FALSTOWN, N. C.

"To live in hearts we leave behind
Is not to die."

Weaver College High School; Delphian Literary Society, President, Secretary and Treasurer; Lincoln-Cleveland Club; Christian Workers' Team; Epworth League Cabinet; Sunday School Superintendent; Tennis Club; Senior Class, Vice-President.

Evan has an appealing personality all his own. Few people have such actractions. He is one of the conservative and sincere men who lend strength to any institution.

It was through Evan's originality that this expression was coined: "Curly Locks, will you be mine?" Has it been answered?

Appearance: Affectionate.

Greatest Aversion: Pins ——.

Favorite Expression: "Nellie, my own."

HUBERT WOODALL
WEAVERVILLE, N. C.

"Let me fail in trying to do something,
Rather than sit still and do nothing."

Weaver College High School; Delphian Literary Society, Treasurer; Buncombe County Club; Dramatic Club.

Woodall comes from our good old college town. He always says he is determined to become something, some day. May this "some day" come soon; then Hubert will start up and up that long inclined plane to become something, and something great. The good will and fellowship of the Senior Class is with you, old boy.

Appearance: Married.

Greatest Aversion: Working.

Favorite Expression: "Miss Smith, I did know that."

The History of the Class of 1926

At last another goal is nearly reached! Our three years at Weaver seem long and eventful years, each crowded to overflowing with fun and seriousness, happiness and sadness, play and honest work.

In September, 1923, a large Sophomore Class started on its college career, but there are only four of its members who have continued their journey together. Of course, we were ignorant, but we knew everybody must pass through this stage. There are memories of many lessons to be learned, of long hours of laboratory work or practice; but as we look back over the speeding years, the thing we best remember is the hearty welcome given us by the Epworth League and the literary societies.

When the Junior year came, the class roll showed twenty-seven new names presented for membership. Sad to say, Cupid was very active on the campus that season, and we lost two of our outstanding members. The greatest event during that year was the wonderful victory of the Thanksgiving game, which gave us the loving cup. This victory seemed to have been intended for Weaver, as the weather man shut up the clouds while Weaver got Mars Hill's goat.

The Junior year is usually considered a very busy one; nevertheless, we found time to keep up our reputation for socials, society events, athletics, debating, and other college activities. We must admit we felt exceedingly busy when we had to put on a Junior-Senior banquet, which we pride ourselves was creditably carried out.

The Senior year started out differently, with our honored selves administering a dose of soot, molasses, and feathers to all the new girls. Yes, the freshmen will remember the event, and the Seniors had a good laugh. Our hearts thrill with gladness when we think of the happy socials we have enjoyed given by the societies, the Epworth League, and the different clubs. We must thank the Juniors for their splendid dinner and entertainment given to the Seniors at the Battery Park Hotel on George Washington's birthday.

We believe the greatest thing that has ever happened in the history of the institution is Mr. Duke's generous donation to the College this year. In a few years we are hoping to see Old Weaver grow beyond anything that has yet been predicted for her. Already we are witnessing the enlargement of the athletic field; other improvements are being made, and will continue to be made.

The years have seemed short, and our college life very enjoyable. Perhaps we may be justly proud of the goal which is so near. But, Class of '26, let us all pledge that this shall be only a small step toward higher accomplishments; that we will ever strive to bring honor, not to ourselves alone, but to our Class and our Alma Mater.

Last Will and Testament

MOUNTAINEER OFFICE,
WEAVER COLLEGE,
WEAVERVILLE, N. C.

To Whom It May Concern:

We, the Senior Class of 1926 of W. C., having been warned by our President, Mr. C. H. Trowbridge, that our approaching disintegration is imminent, and having, through advice of our spiritual advisor, Mrs. Pylant, made peace with our enemies, the faculty, and our rivals, the Junior Class, being in sane mind, do hereby proclaim, publish, and make known this our last Will and Testament:

First. To the Board of Trustees and to the friends of Weaver College we leave our deep gratitude for the institution that their efforts and untiring zeal have made possible.

Second. We desire to thank the faculty for their leniency in grading us, for we realize that our success has depended largely on the kindness of their disposition toward us.

Third. To the following members of the faculty we leave:

1. To Mr. C. H. Trowbridge, a large, loyal, enthusiastic student body that will stand by him and work faithfully for the materialization of the wonderful plan he has for Weaver College.

2. To Mrs. C. H. Trowbridge, our love together with our deepest gratitude for her many helpful lectures.

3. To Mr. Deaderick, we will a new football team to be encouraged by his interest and enthusiasm.

4. To Miss Smith, our appreciation for her untiring help and encouragement in our society work, and our many thanks for her interest and patience with us while coaching our plays.

5. To Mrs. Plyant, a gleeful, enthusiastic group of girls that will live up to the ideals that she holds for them.

6. To Mr. Duncan, a group of boys who never cut chapel, Sunday School, or Church, or stay out late at night, or go to town without permission, and yet are good sports.

7. To Mr. Carden, we will a steam heated apartment with plenty of hot water.

8. To Mrs. Carden, many thanks for the enjoyable programmes which the two societies for which she is sponsor have given us.

9. To Mr. Clauss, a science class that will never be tardy on class, and will have an enthusiastic desire for valuable information.

10. To Mrs. Henderson, a list of menus, excluding grits and beans, which will satisfy the horrible pangs of hunger suffered by any student.

11. To Miss Morris, a pair of Tom Walkers, to aid her in passing through the mud from the college to town.

12. To Miss Burden, a more complicated system of bookkeeping, to help her use her spare moments.

13. To Mr. Manchester, a strong desire for a well supplied studio.

14. To Miss Reagan, the view of the wonderful that will ever inspire her art class.

Fourth. To the Classes:

1 To the Juniors, we leave the honor of Weaver College, with the hope that they will be as loyal sons and daughters as we have been.

2. To the Sophs., we will our notebooks, English themes, trig. problems, and all bits of startling wisdom that we may not need in our future careers.

3. To the Freshmen, we bequeath our advice that they study five hours every day on each subject as the teachers require, and obey the Deans.

Fifth. To the various persons the following pieces of personal property:

1. I, Fuschia Barnard, leave to Carroll Sorrell my deep devotion to my books.

2. I, Lee Barnett, bequeath to Bonnie Gahagan my playful spirit, with warning not to exercise on English class.

3. I, Vernie Bartlett, leave to Bill Zimmerman my nickname, "Fatso."

4. I, Roy Blackwelder, will to Smythe Moss my marvelous oratorical power.

5. I, Ray Carpenter, leave to C. Moreland the plastrocious perplexities and troubles incumbent upon the Editor-in-Chief of the "MOUNTAINEER."

6. I, Elizabeth Carter, bequeath to Edna White my collection of readings, with my ability and expression.

7. I, Emma Crayton, leave my "Jimmie" to Mary Whiteside to comfort her while homesick.

8. I, Annie Edwards, leave my position as Assistant Dean to Nelle Harris, provided she will reform.

9. I, Eula English, leave my right to be tardy to all morning classes to Claudie Kiker.

10. I, Lillian Gibbs, bequeath my warbles and thrills to Margaret Powell.

11. I, William Hart, leave to Sherrod Tuttle the debt of the present Annual, together with those which may accumulate with next year's Annual. May your dreams be sweet.

12. I, Talfourd Hunneycutt, will to Nora Beam my propensity to play practical jokes at the wrong time.

13. I, Mary Helen Howard, leave to Catherine Proffitt my keen interest in the opposite sex.

14. I, Eura Jones, bequeath to Craig Beam my wonderful tenor voice, with a private niche in Mr. Manchester's heart.

15. I, Glenn Kennerly, leave my privilege to torment Miss Smith and Mrs. Pylant to Guy Hayes.

16. I, Emory Lyda, will my ability to memorize poetry to Wakefield Barringer.

17. I, Viola Lyda, leave to Leola Allen my formula for Mary Pickford curls.

18. I, Grace Moore, will to Mary Lewis my ability to excel in foreign languages, especially Spanish.

19. I, Edgar Morris, bequeath to Beatrice Sisk my chemistry book, which will enable her to stand well in the eyes of Mr. Clauss.

20 I, Mary Ellen Powell, leave to Mark Pridgen my proficiency in disseminating all the knowledge the Weaver students will need throughout the year.

21. I, Sarah Ross, leave to Helen Kale my records as a "star goal shooter."

22. I, Rachel Staples, leave my impressive dignity to John McNeil.

23. I, Evan Wilson, will my little pack of Nellie Bly to my brother Lloyd.

24. I, Hubert Woodall, leave my towering ambition to make a success in life to Vivian Smith.

In witness whereof we, the Class of 1926, the testators, have to this, our last will and testimony, set our hands and seal, this the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six.

Social Events

THE opening social event of the year 1925-1926 was a "Get-Acquainted Party," given by the Epworth League, Saturday evening, September 4, 1925. This was a jolly, informal entertainment which put the blues and homesickness to flight, and made us feel at home.

The four Literary Societies soon gave their annual receptions in honor of the new students. The Cliosophic-Euterpean reception was given in the lobby of Skinner Hall Saturday evening, September 12, 1925. The decoration of the hall added much to the party, maroon and white being used, with golden rod and autumn leaves arranged artistically about the room. On Saturday evening, September 17, 1925, the Delphian-Mnemosynean Literary Societies gave their annual reception. The entrance was decorated to represent a garden. The Mnemosynean colors, green and white, were carried out here by the use of trees, flowers, and Japanese lanterns. The guests all spent a gay evening in the lobby, where the Delphian colors, purple and white, were used as decorations.

The long winter months were enlivened by many social events. An ice cream supper, a carnival, a number of parties given in honor of visiting athletic teams, a Japanese tea, a Valentine party given by members of the Stanley-Rowan County Club, a box supper for the "Pep," and a St. Patrick's Day social, were among the parties that the jolly Weaver students enjoyed.

The crowning event of the year was the Junior-Senior banquet, given at the Battery Park Hotel, February 22, 1926. This event will always be remembered with a thrill of pleasure.

In spite of the eager excitement and the joy of these special occasions, there are many young men and women who believe that the greatest institution of Weaver College is the "Sunday School Hour," enjoyed by any who have managed to walk in the exceedingly narrow path of duty during the week.

Thus is our work and study so leavened by fun and frolic that there are few dull days or tedious hours at Old Weaver.

MARY HELEN HOWARD.

PRAYER is the great connecting link of communication and power between the souls of men and God.

Through the channel of prayer the infinite resources of heavenly love flow into empty human souls, converting them into a spring of sparkling, crystal water, a living source of life.

Each week the students of Weaver College come together in a silent, reverent, earnest body to renew their religious strength, develop their souls, and feast on the bounteous love of God.

"ALL FOR CHRIST"

In order to develop Christian characters, the College must have organizations through which to work. The Epworth League, a nation-wide organization, is one of her most efficient tools. The work of the League is carried on largely by the student body, and is truly wide-awake, the Sunday evening services being especially attractive with their varied programs. The College League is well represented at the monthly District Union Meetings and at the Annual Epworth League Conferences. The well attended prayer meeting services and the morning-watch, a worship service conducted before breakfast, are both under the supervision of the League.

The College has her own Sunday School, with a staff of officers elected from the student body. This offers a wonderful opportunity for service, as new officers are installed every quarter.

The Young Men's Christian Association, working at Skinner Hall, proved itself a helpful and efficient organization. There are two other organizations offering opportunities for service. These are the Christian Workers' Team and Life Service Band, both for students interested in Christian work. A small yet important service which makes a wonderful impression on Weaver students is "Family Prayer," conducted immediately after the evening meal. Silence reigns throughout the dining hall during the few minutes' worship.

The annual revival services, conducted just before Christmas, are a wonderful help to students, as during the time neglected pledges are revived or lives are newly offered to the Master.

The student body of Weaver is composed largely of young men and young women who are striving earnestly and eagerly towards a high and worthy ideal, who realize the difficulties and complexities of modern life, but are convinced that Christian principles will solve the vexing problems and difficulties by which they are today confronted.

MARY ELLEN POWELL.

Friendly, calm, and gentle,
They endure the storms of the seasons.

Sturdy oaks, like sturdy Characters, make their impressions.

Play is the elixir of life;
Drink deep from the fountain of youth.

Weaver Policy of Athletics

THROUGHOUT the year Weaver College has been consistently proud of its athletic policy. It is a policy of fairness, of true sportsmanship, of athletic rectitude. Weaver holds that athletics promote a moral training not less valuable than the physical development offered. Always athletics should build a reverence for the right, a love for what is fair. Weaver has sought to teach this, and the college has ever hoped to see such a love and reverence demonstrated by the men on the field. Weaver believes that "It isn't so much whether you won or lost that counts, but how you played the game."

Emory Lyda, Quarter Back

With dauntless courage and tenacity, a keen, intellectual knowledge of the technique of the football game acquired through four years of gridiron drill, this powerful son of Weaver led his team bravely through many hard-fought battles. Lyda is noted for line plunging all over our playing radius.

Alvan Dean, Half Back

This Georgian, with his pluck and grit and several years of experience, was a welcomed addition to our grid machine of '26. He stayed put, never gave in nor tired. His love of the sport drove him on. He was dependable and sure. Beautiful punting was his specialty.

Davis Tuttle, Half Back

This knight of the gridiron hails from Lenoir, a football town. He was promoted from tackle to half back and filled his position like a veteran. Daring, silent, and sturdy characerizes this reliable player, "Tut," the man for an end run.

Guy Hayes, Half Back

A late start at the beginning of the training period did not prevent this fast little "Rat" from making his position and holding his own during many scrambles, against odds, for the "pig-skin." "Rat" was a fleet-footed, cool-headed player under any and all conditions.

Sidney Croy, Center

The third year this son of the Southland comes back to fight for Weaver in the center position, pouring out his whole soul in iron steadfastness and bull-doggedness for his Alma Mater. Croy is gummy, sticky, and dependable; slow, but ever sure. Accurate passing from center was his goal.

Ray Carpenter, Left Guard

This brave son of the Old North State plays his third and last year for Old Weaver. He is a fellow with considerable physical strength and endurance, full of "pep," the spice of football. He is a hard, clean fighter, and always on the alert. On Thanksgiving Day, '25, he starred in his position as left guard, and at all times was a man equal to the task.

Vernie Bartlett, Right Tackle

Coming from Reems Creek, this rugged mountaineer excels in power of body and in qualities of mind. "Fats" was a cultured gentleman, and a mainstay with us. He has weight, drive, and speed—an excellent combination for a tackle. When his cleats slugged the ground, something had to move. His wild cattishness played its part.

Carlyle Jordan, Right End

This fellow has the football fever and a good knowledge of the game. He made Weaver an end worthy of the name. He never failed, unless he was playing Cullowhee. It thrills the grid fan's heart to see the pigskin sail into his sure clutches.

Glenn Kennerly, Left Tackle

"Ken," you are quite the stuff and played football well, although you are "pretty." From a greenhorn in the football world "Ken" became quite a professional before the season of '25 was over. We are looking for great things from you next year.

McAvoy Brittain

"Mac" was a snatch team to us. When some one slowed up, "Mac" came in with plenty of ginger; this was spice to us, too. Although "Hop" was not always "sweet to Daddy," he took it like a man. Did it do you good, "Bo?" Next year will tell.

Mark Prigden, Right Guard

When things looked serious; when the wind blew wrong; when Weaver stood still; then it was that "Munk's" cherry "Dad-burn it!" helped us on. With you, "Munk," the Mars Hill Thanksgiving game would have been ours. This was a trick of Fate. What about the Thanksgiving game of '26?

Sherrod Tuttle

To Sherrod Tuttle, whose picture we do not have. But this promising son of Weaver took his bad luck like a real man. He bore his pain, suffered the consequences, and still wears his smile. It has been we, the rest of the team, who have missed you most, "Tut." This getting your knee fractured was another trick of Fate. Who knows but what it was for the best? Best wishes, "Bud!"

Summary of Football Season

The football season opened September 25, school having begun September 4. The delay in getting to practice was due to a water shortage, which was a great hindrance to the development of a football machine for Old Weaver.

September 24, Coach Houston Arbogast sent out a call for candidates. Among those reporting were Lyda, captain; Croy, center; Carpenter, guard; and Hampton, end; the only letter men available. Among the new men reporting were Davis Tuttle, Sherrod Tuttle, Dean, Pridgen, Hart, Brittain, Weaver, Woolley, Bartlett, A. Felipe, Jordan, Greene, R. Hunnicutt, Teague, and T. Huneycutt. A second call was made, and the following responded: Love, Wilson, Cox, Moss, Summey, Burgin, and Wolfe.

The first game of the season was played October 3, on Dunham Field, with the powerful Farm School eleven. The "Blue Giants" fought hard against odds during the first half, but the weight and training of the Farm School Aggies won for them a score of 25-7.

The next game was also played on the home field, Mars Hill meeting Weaver on the following Saturday. Football fans had estimated an overwhelming victory for the Baptists, since the Methodists were defeated by Farm School. This game was a revelation of the "Old Weaver spirit," which invariably means hard and clean football. The battle raged fiercely on both sides, neither scoring in the first half; however, the Weaver men outplayed the Baptists, the ball remaining most of the time in their territory. The breaks went against the Methodists, and the score announced by the referee was a tie—6-6.

Weaver men journeyed to Maryville, Tennessee, October 17 to face the great Maryville aggregation. Here the Methodists met with a hard proposition, Maryville men being heavy and entirely out of the Weaver class. The first half of the game was played by the Weaver varsity, who held the Presbyterians to a score of 25-0, which demonstrated to the Tennesseians that Weaver had been upon the field fighting. The second half was played by the Weaver "scrubs," who longed for a taste of real football; and when the half had ended, the score then stood 84-0.

One week later, Wingate College met Weaver on Dunham Field. Last year Weaver went to Wingate and defeated her by a small margin of one point. Here was an old enemy out for revenge, and Weaver put forth every effort to win a second victory, while Wingate used every available ounce of strength to "even up." The Weaver line stood firm and Wingate suffered a great many more penalties than did Weaver; yet they succeeded in pushing over two touchdowns, which was enough to win for the visitors the game. Score: 13-6.

October 13, Weaver again journeyed to Tennessee, this time to meet Tusculum, another large college. The Blue Giants were well aware of the situation and were determined to give the Tusculum boys a "hot battle." The entire Weaver team played hard and clean, laboring under difficult conditions; they played in a field of mud; bucking and holding a heavy line under such conditions was too much for the Weaver boys, and the score announced was 25-0.

Rutherford College came to Weaver November 11. Weaver soon found the Rutherford boys an easy bunch, game and well trained, but lacking in football experience. The backfield was on the alert and Dean punted well. End runs and forward passes worked well, and Weaver had but little trouble in walking away with an 18-0 victory.

Cullowhee was the next team to fall before the sturdy Weaverites, November 18, and was played at Cullowhee. Again, Weaver had to meet a hard-fighting little team, yet one inexperienced in football, whose physical strength was somewhat weaker than Weaver's; hence, the Methodists had no great task in running up a score of 28-6.

The last game of the season came on Thanksgiving Day; for the first time this, the greatest game of the year, was played on the Mars Hill field. Weaver's successes, measured by scores, had been almost uniformly lower than Mars Hill scores where both teams had met the same opponents. The Weaver spirit revealed itself from the first kick-off, when a Mars Hill man received the ball while Kennerly and Hampton cut him down before he could gain an inch. This game was an exhibition of real football by both teams. Captain Lyda, playing his last game of football for Old Weaver, starred as perhaps he had never done before, carrying the ball through the heavy defense of the Baptists and managing his team so as successfully to compete against the difficulties brought about by a continual downpour of rain. Another star for Weaver that day was Carpenter, who plunged through the Baptist line and got his man, throwing the Hill for a loss in almost every play. Dean, as always, never failed to do good punting. During the second half, Hays, the dauntless Black and Gold halfback, was injured and was unable to enter the game again. The advantages of the remaining part of the game were slightly with the heavier Mars Hill team; and soon they succeeded in making an end run for a touchdown, but failed to kick a goal. The Methodists were determined to hold them from a further score, and the game closed with a defeat of 6-0. For the first time in the history of the contests between the two colleges Weaver was defeated on Thanksgiving Day.

The close of the season came on Thursday evening, December 10, when the annual banquet was held at West's Cafe in a most generous style. Coach Houston Arbogast was unable to be present; but he was not forgotten, because Weaver men are always ready to give him great credit as a coach of remarkable ability. The entire squad expressed its hope that he would be back to coach the grid machine of '26. At the close of the banquet, Mr. Sidney Croy was elected captain of the team of 1926.

Dramatic Club

THERE is latent talent in this group of vigorous playmakers which needs only to be developed, polished, and refined in order to reproduce dramatic pieces worthy of note. By Miss Smith's and Mrs. Carden's skillful coaching, this band has already given plays which attracted wide attention; however, the possibilities have not yet been realized. This is a rich field of college endeavor; we hope for its future.

WEAVERVILLE

THE last decade has witnessed an interesting development in American Home Life—a resurgent movement from the city to the suburban district and small towns. The automobile has been, perhaps, the chief influence in producing this exodus from town, for by means of it the business man of even moderate income has been able to exchange the close uarter of a city house or apartment for a suburban or country home, with a cool veranda, grassy lawn for the children to play upon, and perhaps a bit of garden in which he can exploit his own ideas as to the raising of beans and cahbgea.

A number of such homes are to be found in Weaverville. Their charm is evident at the first glance, and a second reveals the fact that they are equipped with every modern convenience—water, sewerage, electric lights, and telephone. May we have the plaesure of showing them to you?

Two men were hunting in the wilds of Western North Carolina. They were chasing a wildcat, when they emerged from the woods just in time to see the animal leap into the window of a mountain cabin from which they heard the voice of a woman singing. Hubby was lounging idly on the porch.

"Great Scott! man, is your wife in the house?" asked one of the hunters.

"Yeah," said the man lazily.

"Well, for goodness sake get busy! A wildcat has just jumped into the window."

"Well, let him get out the best way he can. I ain't got no use for the pesky critters, nowhow," said the man, unmoved.

Chick (to Elizabeth Carter): "Lizzie," how do you like Kipling?
